DETAILED ACTION

Information Disclosure Statement

The information disclosure statement filed 10/03/05 fails to comply with 37 CFR 1.98(a)(3) because it does not include a concise explanation of the relevance, as it is presently understood by the individual designated in 37 CFR 1.56(c) most knowledgeable about the content of the information, of each patent listed that is not in the English language. It has been placed in the application file, but some of the information referred to therein has not been considered.

Claim Rejections - 35 USC § 103

The following is a quotation of 35 U.S.C. 103(a) which forms the basis for all obviousness rejections set forth in this Office action:

> (a) A patent may not be obtained though the invention is not identically disclosed or described as set forth in section 102 of this title, if the differences between the subject matter sought to be patented and the prior art are such that the subject matter as a whole would have been obvious at the time the invention was made to a person having ordinary skill in the art to which said subject matter pertains. Patentability shall not be negatived by the manner in which the invention was made.

Claim 1 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yonehara et al. (US Patent 5,453,394). Yonehara disclose formation of two semiconductor layers on two porous substrates bonding the substrates and separating along the porous layer(figure 2). However Yonehara fails to disclose forming an insulation layer between the semiconductor layers. Whereas Yonehara disclose the forming a silicon oxide layer on the epitaxial layer (see figure 3c). Furthermore Yonehara discloses the claimed invention except for the first porous layer having a greater porosity than the second porous layer. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to make the first porous layer have a greater porosity, since it has been held the discovering an optimum value of a result effective variable involves only routine skill in the art. In re Boesch 617 F.2d 272, 205 USPQ 215(CCPA 1980). Therefore it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to use the different embodiments to anticipate the current method, because the formation of the oxide would act as diffusion barrier between the two substrates and the layer with the greater porosity would separate more easily from the substrate.

Claim 84 is rejected under 35 U.S.C. 103(a) as being unpatentable over Yonehara et al. (US Patent 5,453,394). Yonehara disclose formation of two semiconductor layers on two porous substrates bonding the substrates and separating along the porous layer (figure 2). However Yonehara fails to disclose forming an insulation layer between the semiconductor layers. Whereas Yonehara disclose the forming a silicon oxide layer on the epitaxial layer (see figure 3c). Furthermore Yonehara discloses the claimed invention except for the first porous layer having a greater porosity than the second porous layer. It would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art at the time the invention was made to make the first porous layer thicker than the second layer, since it has been held the discovering an optimum value of a result effective variable involves only routine skill in the art. In re Boesch 617 F.2d 272, 205 USPQ 215(CCPA 1980). Therefore it would have been obvious to one of ordinary skill in the art to use the different embodiments to anticipate the current method, because the formation of the oxide would act as diffusion barrier between the two substrates and the layer with the greater thickness would be easier to mechanically separate.

Response to Arguments

Applicant's arguments with respect to claim 1 have been considered but are moot in view of the new ground(s) of rejection.

Conclusion

Applicant's amendment necessitated the new ground(s) of rejection presented in this Office action. Accordingly, THIS ACTION IS MADE FINAL. See MPEP § 706.07(a). Applicant is reminded of the extension of time policy as set forth in 37 CFR 1.136(a).

A shortened statutory period for reply to this final action is set to expire THREE MONTHS from the mailing date of this action. In the event a first reply is filed within TWO MONTHS of the mailing date of this final action and the advisory action is not mailed until after the end of the THREE-MONTH shortened statutory period, then the shortened statutory period will expire on the date the advisory action is mailed, and any extension fee pursuant to 37 CFR 1.136(a) will be calculated from the mailing date of the advisory action. In no event, however, will the statutory period for reply expire later than SIX MONTHS from the date of this final action.
